TRUE DAUGHTERS OF THE SNOW ARE THESE FAMOUS FIVE SISTERS

Near their home at Callander, Ontario, the Dionne Quintuplets have their own little tooggan slide and, like all healthy Canadian children, they enjoy nothing more than a frolic in the deep snow. Forty-four months old Friday next, the Dionne quintuplets, world's most famous children, are once again recorded in oils by The Star Weekly. In January, 1936, at the age of 19 months, The Star Weekly's first color painting of them appeared here. On their third birthday last year, a Star Weekly artist again, in oils, preserved them for posterity. Here is the third in the series, by W. Blackwood Law, staff artist. Reproductions of the first two are to be found elsewhere in this section. Can you identify each of the girls above? If not, you'll find their names in order on an inside page.

This is Pal, farm collie which saved the life of John Whitehouse of Brighton, Ont., by driving off a savage bull. Pal has received the first Hero Dog award in the search being conducted by The Toronto Star and The Star Weekly. Inset is the bronze medallion which goes with a handsome collar to dogs showing conspicuous bravery, intelligence and devotion. If your dog has committed an act of heroism, send your claim to The Hero Dog editor, The Star Weekly.

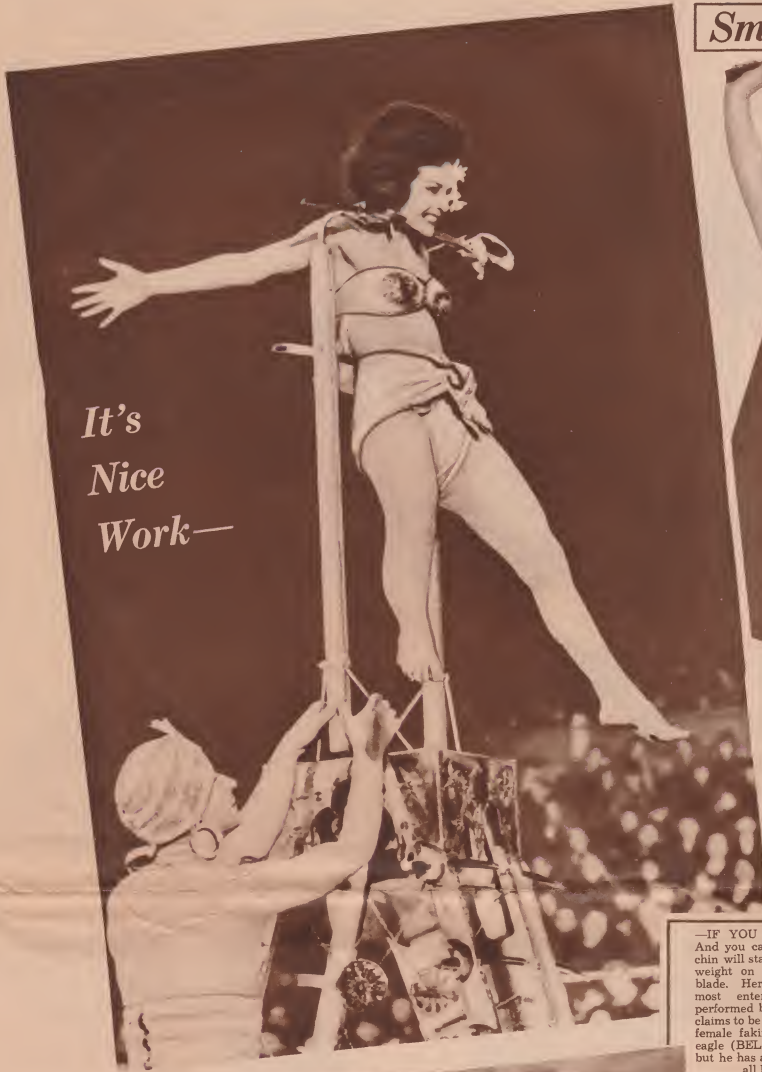

The Empire's Queens

England's queens face a never-ending round of public appearances. On her visit to the annual exhibition of ex-servicemen's crafts at the Imperial Institute, Queen Mary, (left), showed keen interest in the work of the 4,000 exhibitors. Queen Elizabeth, (right), appeared happy when she beat the King at darts on a tour of Slough Social Centre. A "sporty" game, she called it.

Smack That Bird!

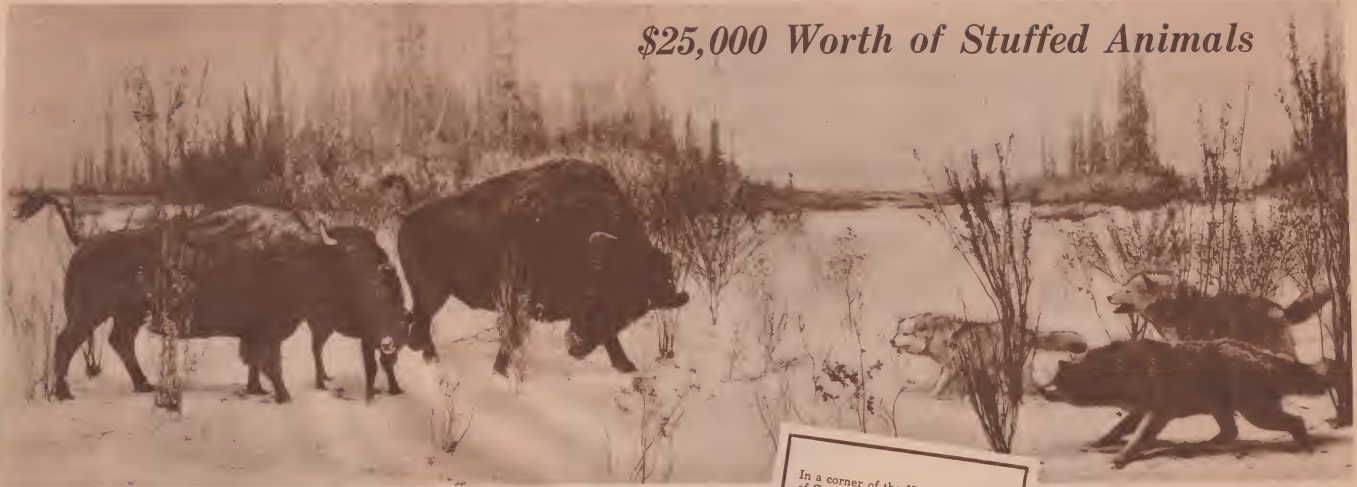

Badminton specialists are warming up for the year's big tournaments. Lillian Beamish (left) soars for a high bird. Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., Canadian women's champion, prefers the long reach. Ontario championships are scheduled for Feb. 10, with the Dominion championships coming in March.

—IF YOU CAN GET IT. And you can get it if your chin will stand bearing your weight on a naked sword blade. Here's one of the most entertaining stunts performed by Koringa, who claims to be the world's only female fakir. Her trained eagle (BELOW) can't do it, but he has a brand of tricks all his own.

Betty Bonnick of Toronto makes a hobby of raising thoroughbred Springer spaniels like these playful puppies. They are as alert as their mistress is patient.

$25,000 Worth of Stuffed Animals

3rd Session, 18th Parliament

Canada's parliament reassembles next Thursday. Chief figures in the pageantry of state will be the governor-general and his lady, whose most recent official portrait appears at the left. At the door of the Senate, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King will await to escort them into the Upper House on his only visit of the year. After the address from the throne has been read, he will change from this glittering Windsor uniform, hurry to set the Commons about its business.

In a corner of the National Museum of Canada stands this $25,000 habitat group of rare wood buffalo. Few animals of the species are to be found in the Canadian west these days. In 1907 the Dominion Government decided to inter-breed a small herd of prairie buffalo with them. The hybrid race which resulted grew so rapidly that annually hundreds must be eliminated by organized slaughter.

Shoot and Make Up

Vivian Phinimore was one of 200 Toronto hunters to roam the country about Nobleton on a recent rabbit hunt. Here's a huntress whose steady eye ensures more than one smile of victory during an afternoon's sport. But—with her powder puff and mirror—are as inevitable as gun and jack rabbit. Toronto hunters' clubs go out twice a week during January and February, and bag many rabbits.

Most Bad Breath Begins With The Teeth!

Yes, authorities say decaying food deposits, in hidden crevices between teeth, are the most common source of this social handicap—and of much tooth decay. That's why they advise Colgate's Dental Cream. Its special penetrating foam thoroughly cleans each hidden crevice. And a soft, grit-free ingredient safely polishes enamel, keeps teeth sparkling bright.

So brush teeth, gums, tongue with Colgate's at least twice daily. If not entirely satisfied, send the empty tube to Colgate's, Toronto, Ont. We will refund twice what you paid.

Man, Not Death, Had the Last Laugh

Here's one of the readiest smiles that ever brightened the face of Alfred Guite. He was one of a surveying party marooned for 39 days in the James Bay wilderness last December. Two days before this picture was taken he and the others faced a prospect of starvation and freezing to death. Rescue aeroplanes roared overhead the day before. Among them was a transport chartered by The Star. Pilot "Pat" Twist snapped this exclusive picture before flying Guite and a companion back to civilization.

Shark Hunt

Sharks became such a menace to Australian bathers, the government of New South Wales commissioned a fishing company to hunt them. Pulling big ones like this out of the deep meant a safer surf and $3,000 bounty money per man-eater in addition to profit from by-products.

The Quintuplets In 1936

To the whole world they were "those adorable babies" when Dr. Dafoe had brought the Dionne quintuplets safely through the first dangerous months. Hilda G. Taylor did this lovely painting which appeared in The Star Weekly when they were 19 months old. W. Blackwood Law brings the series up to date with his painting on the front cover of this issue.

In 1937

Quite grown up were the quintuplets when W. Blackwood Law, Star Weekly staff artist, painted this portrait in honor of their third birthday last May. If you are still uncertain which is which on the front page, they are, from left to right, Emilie, Marie, Cecile, Yvonne, with the mischievous Annette about to "push off."

Trix, Trained Canary

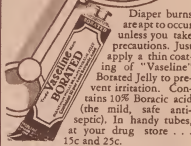

Trix is the pride of Westcliff-on-Sea. His "star turn" is this difficult feat in which he lies on his back on an upturned goblet while balancing a ball. The canary is able to hold the pose for several minutes.
